Mission Statement

The organization is dedicated to encouraging and promoting a higher degree of skill and efficiency for its members.

It will provide relevant law enforcement training, cumulative relationships through a strong networking system, and more uniformity in the services provided. This is to enable the members to provide enhanced assistance to chief law enforcement officers and member departments, which ultimately benefits the communities they serve.

History

MN - Law Enforcement Administrative Professionals (MN-LEAP) started in Minnesota in 1999 after a representative from the National FBI Training Unit, Debbie Beebe, came to the Twin Cities to conduct training for law enforcement assistants. A need was identified for specialized training for this group, as well as networking opportunities to share knowledge.

Attendees from several agencies worked together to form MN-LEAP (Formerly PLEAA), a non-profit agency that works to provide relevant training and networking opportunities for this group.

Members include representatives of any city, county, state or federal law enforcement agency support staff; including many administrative positions; bookkeepers; admin CSO; admin office supervisors, specialists, assistants, managers; background investigators and supervisors; civil process positions; confidential office positions; crime analyst; crime prevention; crime scene & evidence; data release and specialists; evidence; executive administrative positions; investigative positions; jail administrative and technical positions; records clerks, technicians, managers, supervisors, specialists, administrator, support specialist; legal administrative and support positions; paralegal; office support and management; property and evidence room; sheriff's administrative assistants; secretary; receptionist; supervisors; support services; victim/witness liaison-legal assistant; warrants specialist and any other non-sworn agency support.

This list is not a comprehensive list of the members we serve.

Training

Twice a year in spring and fall, MN-LEAP sponsors training opportunities at a low cost for this group. Training subjects include data practices, customer service, generation communication, diversity, critical incident debriefing for records staff, and a variety of law enforcement related topics. Attendees will receive information and knowledge to share with their agencies. Members also network with others. It is advantageous to have a group of peers to call on when questions arise about how a program is configured or run.

A complete list of recent training opportunities can be found on the MN-LEAP website at www.mnleap.org.
